DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's request for reconsideration in view of FR 2677398 A3 is persuasive and, therefore, the finality of last action is withdrawn. New rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
  - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 3. Claims 2-4, 6, 9, 11-13, 17 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Whiting (3,178,762) in view of Raheb et al. (5,581,844).

Whiting '762 discloses the invention as claimed but for the door stop being attached to the hinge by a magnetic member. Raheb et al. '844 teaches a removable door stop having a magnetic member to magnetically clamped the door stop to the metal plate of the hinge without having to use any hand tools. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the door stop of '762 with a magnetic member as taught by '844 so that the door stop can be magnetically clamped to the hinge, without using other hand tools.

As to claims 9 and 11, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to modify the transverse edges to contact the door and doorframe, since applicant has not disclosed as such solves any stated problem or is for any unexpected purpose and it appears that the edges contacting the hinge plates, as taught by '762, would perform equally well for stopping the door. In re Kuhle, 188 USPQ 7.

4. Claim 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Whiting '762 and Raheb et al. '844 as applied to claims above, and further in view of WO 02/095173A1.

Both '762 and '844 do not show a threaded member connected between the transverse edges. WO teaches a door stop having a threaded member between the transverse edges for adjusting the length of the door stop member to accommodate the desired opening angle between the door and the doorframe. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the door stop of '762 and '844 with a threaded member between the transverse edges for adjusting the length of the stop member to accommodate the opening angle of the door relative to the doorframe.

5. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Whiting '762 in view of Raheb et al. '844 and WO '173.

Whiting '762 discloses the invention as claimed but for the door stop being attached to the hinge by a magnetic member. Raheb et al. '844 teaches a removable door stop having a magnetic member to magnetically clamped the door stop to the metal plate of the hinge without having to use any hand tools. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the door stop of '762 with a magnetic member as taught by '844 so that the door stop can be magnetically clamped to the hinge, without using other hand tools.

As to contacting relationship between the door/doorframe and the transverse edges, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to modify the transverse edges to contact the door and doorframe, since applicant has not disclosed as such solves any stated problem or is for any unexpected purpose and it appears that the edges contacting the hinge plates, as taught by '762, would perform equally well for stopping the door. In re Kuhle, 188 USPQ 7. As to the threaded member between the transverse edges, both '762 and '844 do not show a threaded member connected between the transverse edges. WO teaches a door stop having a threaded member between the transverse edges for adjusting the length of the door stop member to accommodate the desired opening angle between the door and the doorframe. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the door stop of '762 and '844 with a threaded member between the transverse edges for adjusting the length of the stop member to accommodate the opening angle of the door relative to the doorframe.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
